• South America meets the edge of the world at this Patagonian hideaway. Outdoors, it's all rugged landscapes (mountains and glaciers!). Inside, the 40 rooms are cozy oases of sheepskin rugs and earthen hues. Make the most of twice-daily guided excursions—boating to the Grey Glacier, horseback riding with gauchos, climbing the Torres del Paine. (Bring your hiking boots—and your stamina.) You'll have earned the hot-stone massage at Uma Spa and cocktails sipped by the oversized fireplace. Rooms from $900 per person; three-night minimum.

Outdoors

Jávri Lodge

LAPLAND, FINLAND

• Step into a winter wonderland at this ultra-hygge 13-room hotel, where you can dogsled, snowmobile, and ice-fish. You'll see reindeer hanging out by your doorstep and get a chance to gape at the northern lights. (If all-day sunshine is more your thing, go during summer.) Rooms from $1,625 per couple.

Amanwana

MOYO ISLAND,
INDONESIA

• If you're looking for underwater thrills, head here for scuba dives on the Flores Sea's coral reefs, teeming with enough aquatic life to launch their own nature channel. Tents from $750 per person.

The Resort at Paws Up

GREENOUGH, MONTANA

• Stargaze, snuggle, and make s'mores outside your luxe tent, one of six at the Cliffside Camp overlooking the Blackfoot River. Ask your butler to book a hot-air-balloon ride above millions of ponderosa pines. Tents from $1,747 per couple.

Inkaterra Reserva Amazónica

MADRE DE DIOS,
PERU

• During the daily hikes, boat rides, and canopy tours, keep your eyes peeled for giant sea otters, black caiman, and maybe even a sloth. Rooms from $492 per person; two-night minimum.
