The Resort at Paws Up Opens a New Camp

The Resort at Paws Up, a Montana glamping resort, debuts its sixth and largest camp on June 1. Perched on a rocky, timbered bluff overlooking the Blackfoot River, North Bank Camp can accommodate larger groups and families, with four two-bedroom tents and two three-bedroom, two-bathroom tents (a first for the resort). North Camp offers the same amenities and services as other camps, such as Wi-Fi, bathrooms with heated floors, and camping butlers, but every tent has a riverfront location with a spacious deck and water views. The camp's dining pavilion, the resort's largest, boasts a stone fireplace and floor-to-ceiling sliding glass windows so guests can watch for eagles during breakfast. Tents at North Bank start at $2,985 per night; pawsup.com.
