

INDULGE

LUXURY MAGAZINE

THREE DAYS
OF CULTURE
IN BARCELONA

An entrepreneur's passion for vintage hats

STYLISH WAYS
TO GET ORGANIZED

Why the Panamera is stunning Porsche purists

CLASSIC CARS, OUTDOOR ADVENTURES AND STEAKS THAT SIZZLE TO PERFECTION.

$3.95

06

0 74470 29674 4

CAMP IN COMFORT

Ride the rapids or a horse by day, then let a chef grill you a medium-rare bison steak paired with a big cabernet as the sun sets at the Resort at Paws Up in western Montana. The 37,000-acre spread will open its sixth tented camp, North Bank Camp, on the Blackfoot River this month. Canvas walls define them as tents, but the six units — which include the industry's first group-friendly two- and three-bedroom tents — come with five-star bedding, en-suite bathrooms and decor straight out of Ralph Lauren ads. Rates from $1,300, all-inclusive; 877-580-6343, www.pawsup.com.

Call of the Wild

FROM TRACKING TIGERS TO HANGING IN HAMMOCKS, HERE'S WHERE TO GO NOW IF YOU'RE YEARNING TO EXPLORE THE GREAT OUTDOORS.

compiled by ELAINE GLUSAC
Elaine Glusac is a Chicago-based freelance writer.

HIKE LIKE AN INCA

Leave the crowds at Machu Picchu to explore less-thronged Inca ruins and the rugged Andes at the new Explora Valle Sagrado. The 50-room modernist retreat functions like a safari lodge, with daily guided excursions primarily to hike or mountain-bike in remote regions. Guests return to limitless pisco sours, gourmet meals and massages dispensed at a 17th-century-mansion-turned-spa. Minding the 9,500-foot elevation, guides start you off with easy ambles among Inca terraces and build to lung-busting treks above 14,000 feet. Two-night minimum stays $1,391 per person, all-inclusive; 866-750-6699, www.explora.com.